

I oppose loosening the rules designed to promote and protect diversity of media ownership. These rules were adopted to ensure that the public would receive a diverse range of viewpoints from the media, and not simply the opinions of a handful of media conglomerates.

One ownership represents one paradigm of views presented to the public over the airwaves, which belong to all the American people. Therefore, a wealthy corporation cannot represent the people, because the people do not make up that corporation or may not even be aware of the purpose for which that broadcast entity was formed. YES, we definitely need to limit ownership of the broadcast media.
